1. INTERNATIONAL LABOUR REVIEW

(Published in English, French and Spanish)

The International Labour Review has been published monthly by the International Labour Office for over twenty-five years. It contains articles on all aspects of social policy, written by recognised authorities from many countries.

Industrial and Labour Information, formerly published weekly, is at present incorporated in the Review.¹ It contains up-to-date news under the headings, International Labour Organisation, Social and Economic Policy, Industrial Relations, Employment, Migration, Conditions of Work, Social Insurance and Assistance, Living Conditions, Co-operation, Employers' and Workers' Organisations, etc. This news is drawn from official and unofficial publications in every country, the International Labour Office's own branch offices and correspondents, other collaborators, and direct communications from Governments.

The section devoted to international statistics of wages, employment, cost of living, hours of work, etc., constitutes a unique source of information.

A specimen copy of the Review will be sent on application.

The International Labour Review may also be obtained from the publishers in the United Kingdom, Messrs. George Allen & Unwin Ltd., Ruskin House, 40 Museum Street, London, W.C.1.

Price per number	2s. 6d.;	$6.50

¹ It is intended to resume separate publication of Industrial and Labour Information, probably twice a month, in the near future.

The texts of the laws and regulations are issued in the form of leaflets printed separately to facilitate classification for filing and binding; instalments are published quarterly in a loose cover.

Subscribers receive all the texts issued during the twelve months covered by the date of the subscription. The texts of individual laws may also be purchased separately; prices vary from 2 cents or 1d. upward according to the number of pages.

This periodical is intended to act as a link between those in all countries who are interested in problems of accident prevention, and to make international co-operation possible.

In addition to articles by experts on specific aspects and problems of accident prevention, the Survey contains notes on the activities of safety associations, new laws and regulations relating to safety precautions, extracts from official reports dealing with accidents, reviews of books and periodicals, and reproduction of new safety posters issued in different countries.

A specimen copy of the Industrial Safety Survey will be sent on application.

4. YEAR-BOOK OF LABOUR STATISTICS

This annual publication, now issued in a trilingual edition (English, French and Spanish), presents in tabular form the most complete data obtainable in the principal countries of the world relating to:

Gainfully Occupied Population	Cost of Living and Retail Prices
Employment and Unemployment	Family Living Studies
Hours of Work	Migration
Wages	Industrial Accidents
	Industrial Disputes
	Economic Statistics

The tables cover the last fifteen years. They are compiled from the official statistics of more than 60 countries in all parts of the world, supplemented in some cases by data obtained from private sources. These relating to Latin America have been expanded considerably. Recent enquiries of the I.L.O. on wages, hours of work and cost of living in various countries are reproduced in full.

An introductory note to each chapter calls attention to the principal questions of method to be borne in mind in interpreting the data, especially when utilising them for international comparisons. The statistics are presented in a systematic way with this object in view.

Price of 1945-1946 issue:

Paper edition	10s. 6d.;	$2.50
Boards	15s. 6d.;	$3.75

5. REPORTS OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR ORGANISATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS

First report: Volume I

The first of the regular reports to be transmitted to the United Nations in accordance with the terms of Article V (2) (a) of the Agreement between the United Nations and the International Labour Organisation. A brief résumé of the aims and purposes of the International Labour Organisation and of its structure is given as a background for an account of the work which the International Labour Organisation has done on a number of matters which appear to be of particular interest to the United Nations, notably employment and unemployment, social security, the protection of children and young persons, women's work, maritime labour, social policy in non-metropolitan territories, and migration.

154 pp. 6s. 6d.; $1.00

Volume II: Appendices

Compiled for the information of the United Nations, these appendices contain, among other documentation, the text of the Constitution of the International Labour Organisation as amended by the Conference in 1946 and the texts of the Conventions and Recommendations and of certain of the Resolutions adopted by the International Labour Conference during the period 1944 to 1947.

396 pp. 8s. 6d.; $2.00

6. OFFICIAL BULLETIN

(Published at irregular intervals in English and French)

The Official Bulletin is the channel through which the International Labour Office supplies official information on matters connected with the life and work of the International Labour Organisation. The Official Bulletin is confined to such documents and information as are essential to a complete and permanent official record of the history of the Organisation and its work. It appears as occasion demands, and has been published since September 1920.

Annual subscription 6s. 6d.; $1.00

7. MINUTES OF THE GOVERNING BODY OF THE I.L.O.

(Published at irregular intervals in English and French)

The Governing Body of the International Labour Office, which is composed of representatives of Governments, employers and workers, meets as a rule every three months. It supervises the work of the I.L.O. and decides the main lines of the policy to be followed; it fixes the agenda of the International Labour Conference, and prepares the budget estimates for the International Labour Organisation.

The minutes contain a full account of the discussions of the Governing Body, as well as the decisions taken. They thus show not merely what is the policy of the I.L.O. at any given time on the most important labour and social questions of the day, but also how that policy was worked out by discussion among the three groups—Government, employers and workers.

The appendices to the minutes contain the documents on which the Governing Body's decisions are based. They include the reports of the various Committees of experts set up by the Governing Body to deal with particular aspects of the work and the Director-General's Report containing a review of the progress of international labour legislation and the work of the Office since the last session of the Governing Body.

Annual subscription 25s. 6d.; $5.00

8. DOCUMENTS OF THE INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE

Below is given a list of the Documents issued by the International Labour Office in connection with sessions of the International Labour Conference.

Since the First Session of the Conference in 1919 there have been considerable changes in the procedure employed for the discussion of proposals for the adoption of International Conventions or Recommendations and there have been corresponding changes in the number and the form of the reports prepared by the Office which relate to such items on the Conference agenda. Under the present procedure, most of these reports go through the following stages:

I. Preliminary Report and Questionnaire

The International Labour Office submits to the Governments of the States Members of the International Labour Organisation a preliminary report setting out the law and practice in the different countries and any other useful information, together with a questionnaire. (The Questionnaire was formerly published after discussion of the preliminary report in the Conference.)

II. Further Report (Replies of Governments)

The Office submits to the Conference the preliminary report referred to above, together with a further report drawn up on the basis of the replies from the Governments to the Questionnaire, indicating the principal questions which require consideration by the Conference.

III. Proposed Texts referred to Governments

On the basis of the replies from the Governments to the Questionnaire and the first discussion by the Conference the Office submits to the Governments one or more Conventions or Recommendations.

IV. Amended Texts submitted to the Conference

On the basis of the observations of the Governments on the third report the Office draws up a final report containing the texts of Conventions or Recommendations with any necessary amendments. This report is submitted to the Governments for discussion at the Conference.

In certain cases the procedure is accelerated and questions are dealt with by a single discussion at one session of the Conference. In this event only the first and last of these reports appear.

Report of the Director-General

The annual Report of the Director-General of the I.L.O. is an account of the development of the Organisation during the year under review, and also a general survey of the world economic situation and the progress of national and international social legislation. It forms the subject of a lengthy and important discussion at each session of the Conference, and is now usually the first item on the agenda.

Financial and Budgetary Questions

Contains the budget of the International Labour Organisation. Now a regular item on the agenda.

Summary of Annual Reports on the Application of Conventions

This volume contains the summary of annual reports which each Member State agrees to make under Article 23 of the Constitution of the International Labour Organisation, on the measures it has taken to give effect to the provisions of Conventions to which it is a party.

An appendix printed separately contains the report of the Committee of Experts on the Application of Conventions. Now a regular item on the agenda.

Special Reports on the Working of Conventions

These are presented to the Conference by the Governing Body at irregular intervals (at the expiration of a period, usually ten years, from the date on which the various Conventions came into force). In the list below they are given after the documents relating to the session to which they are presented.

Record of Proceedings of the Conference

The Record contains a list of the items on the agenda, lists of members of delegations and Committees of the Conference, the verbatim record of speeches made in plenary sittings, full authentic texts of Conventions and Recommendations adopted, and reports of the different Conference Committees.

All Conference documents are now published in English, French and Spanish.
